May 14
Fri.
3–4 PM
AASC

Policing Asian Massage Work and Abolitionist Possibilities: A Conversation with Red Canary Song

Yves Tong Nguyen is a queer disabled abolitionist organizer with Red Canary Song and Survived and Punished NY. Elena Shih is the Manning Assistant Professor of American Studies and Ethnic Studies at Brown University and she received her PhD from the Department of Sociology, UCLA. She is the author of “How to Protect Sex Workers,” (New York Times, March 26, 2021).

Registration: https://ucla.zoom.us/meeting/register/tJYqdugGqqjMuEtLtlkuGXu8Yfam93KlDz-k

May 20
Thurs.
12:30–2 PM
AISC

The Roots & Persistence of White Nationalism in the United States

Featuring Hector Amaya, Ginna Green, and Shannon Speed, this conversation engages the origins of white nationalism in the United States and its longevity across generations, geographies, and political moments.

Registration: https://roots.eventbrite.com

May 19
Wed.
5–6:15 PM
CSRC

Celebrating CSRC Director Chon Noriega

The UCLA Chicano Studies Research Center (CSRC) is pleased to co-present with the Fowler Museum a special online program celebrating Chon Noriega, who is stepping down this spring after 19 years as CSRC Director.

Registration: https://tinyurl.com/celebratingchon

May 26
Wed.
12–1:30 PM
AASC

Impacts of the Pandemic on Asian American Businesses in Southern California

Presentation on a survey of Asian American businesses in Southern California and the impact of the coronavirus pandemic on these businesses.

Speakers include Paul Ong, Professor and Director of the Center for Neighborhood Knowledge and Karen Park, Chair of Asian Business Association Foundation and President of TEN Advertising.

Registration: https://www.eventbrite.com/e/impacts-of-the-pandemic-on-asian-american-businesses-in-southern-california-tickets-14788920743